Liferay Subscriptions

Liferay's enterprise subscriptions are designed to empower companies to assemble the technology stack that best meets their needs. Liferay offers its products through four main subscriptions. Our subscriptions are packaged with support, maintenance, a commercial service level agreement, legal assurances, exclusive resources created by expert developers and a valuable relationship with the vendor. A subscription establishes a partnership with our customers that benefits from our open source roots and our belief that technology can do more when it is developed in collaboration with its users. At the end of the day, Liferay's goal is to provide the best value possible to our customers, even when that means taking additional risk onto ourselves.
